10 CENTS PER WEEK

HORSE SHOW WILL START OFF TONIGHT

Rain Threatened the Opening, But Program Will be Carried Out in Full Tonight.

Rain is what the weather clerk gave the horse show this morning, but the clouds broke this afternoon and the big event will take place to night according to program. There are many visitors in the city, but the downpour this morning has kept many away. With clearing weather there should be an immense crowd here tomorrow from surrounding towns.

Many entries have already been made for each event and Secretary D. W. Coons, of the Commercial and Manufacturers' club, has been busy all afternoon taking entries and requests persons who desire to go into the contests tonight, tomorrow and Friday nights to enter as soon as they can.

The rain, stated Mr. H. H. Phillips this afternoon, has been a blessing as it has settled the dust, and consequently there will be no dust to annoy the spectators tonight. The grounds were a little muddy but this afternoon 25 wagon loads of mud were put on them, which left them in ideal condition.

Quite a number of blooded horses are here and most of them are at the fair grounds, the others being kept in local livery stables. Dr. J. H. Garber has his fine German coach horses at the Palmer transfer stables on Jefferson street and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock they will be paraded, headed by a brass band, through the principal business thoroughfares.

This afternoon the sponsors will be entertained in the parlors of the Palmer house. It is to be a dress affair and a large number of ladies will attend. The reception commenced at 3 o'clock and is in charge of the reception committee, of which Miss Elizabeth Shinnott is chairman. Everybody who desired to attend was invited. Punch is being served.

The sponsors who accepted, are: Misses Annie Ellison, Hickman, Ky.; Lucile Rogers, Waverly, Tenn.; Carolyn Price, Dawson Springs, Ky.; Bernice Frost, Wingo, Ky.; Minnie Murphy, Fulton, Ky.; Mary Carr, Fulton, Ky.; Grace Smith, Mayfield, Ky.; Halie Moorman, Mayfield, Ky.; Jessie Northington, Wickliffe, Ky.; Emma Woodward, Cairo, Ill.; Meme Smith, Owensboro, Ky.; Battle Davis, Birdsboro, Ky.; Patty Crook, Jackson, Tenn.; Jennie Wire, Mayfield, Ky.; Jessie Wilson, Nashville, Tenn.; Anna Parks, Nashville, Tenn.; and Mesdames Samuel McCall, Fulton, Ky.; Harry D. Tandy, Frankfort, Ky.; Annie Berryman, Clarksville, Tenn.; C. C. Terrell, Cairo, Ill.; Jake Corbett, Wickliffe, Ky.; J. H. Black, Terre Haute, Ind.; W. O. Bailey, Louisville, Ky.; Urey Woodson, Owensboro, Ky.; Gus Thomas, Mayfield, Ky.; Houston Fall, Nashville, Tenn.

The boxes have all been sold. The four remaining ones were sold to: Mr. William Hughes, Mr. Virgil Sherrill, Mr. James C. Fitterback and Mr. William F. Birdshaw, Jr.

The boxes have all been lined with white, and the reserved seats covered with white, and every precaution has been taken to prevent the dirtiest of gowns from being soiled.

Dr. Olivia Nelson has a handsome bridle and saddle which she will use in her riding at the horse show. Dr. Nelson had the bridle and saddle made to order by the Deiman-Stark Co., and is one of the finest ever seen in the city.

Prof. Dean's band and Prof. Dean's band have been furnishing music this afternoon at Fourth and Broadway and Second and Broadway, respectively, attracting large crowds.

GEN. GAINES LOST IN FIRST ROUND

Judge Reed Thinks Civilians Had a Right at Encampment.

Demurrer to Elmer Townsend's $10,000 Damage Suit Overruled in Circuit Court Today.

TRIAL OF CASES ON THE 21ST.

The suit of Elmer Townsend against Col. Noel C. Gaines, of Frankfort, for $10,000 damages came up in the circuit court this morning and the general demurrer of the defendant to the petition was argued by Judge Guy Briggs, of Bowling Green, advocate of the state guards, and the plaintiff was represented by Judge R. T. Lightfoot and Attorney L. K. Taylor.

The demurrer was overruled. Judge Briggs held that Col. Gaines, as inspector general, had jurisdiction over the encampment grounds for a certain radius and could arrest or cause the arrest of any civilian therein. Judge Reed decided that a civilian had as much right within the encampment grounds as any soldier so long as he did not interfere with an officer, and this the plaintiff's attorneys allege Townsend did not do.

During the encampment here in August Townsend was at the encampment at Wallace park one morning when Col. Gaines ordered a proprietor of a stand to clean up around it or suffer arrest. He alleges that Townsend laughed at him and when asked why he acted so, that Townsend threatened and dared him to arrest him. His arrest followed and Townsend was placed in the guard house. The plaintiff claims he was laughing at the stand proprietor and denies that he threatened Col. Gaines.

After the suit was threatened Col. Gaines found that Townsend was a member of company K, of Paducah, which had never been mustered out, and has instituted charges against him at Frankfort, and says Townsend will be court-martialed and tried after the damage suit is disposed of.

The decision of Judge Reed this morning will probably throw the suit to trial on its merits, and the case was today set for the 21st day of the term.

The overruling of the demurrer does not affect the case, moreover, as the defense expects to show that Townsend was legally a member of the state guards, and subject to such discipline as his superiors saw fit to enforce.

JOLT FOR DUNNE.

Chicago Council Rejects Municipal Ownership By Vote of 37 to 27.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Mayor Dunne succeeded in putting the city council on record on the question of municipal ownership. The aldermen voted 37 to 27 against it.

The mayor sent to the council an order directing the local transportation committee to negotiate with the street car companies for a franchise, and the vote was taken to indicate that a majority of the council favor the passage of a franchise ordinance.

The vote showed only one over a majority of the council however and not enough to pass the ordinance over a veto of the mayor.

The registration in Paducah this year shows a slight falling off, principally in the number of independent voters. Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 18.—It has been decided that the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, shall meet in Birmingham next May. This was determined at a meeting held here of the subcommittee having the matter in charge following a meeting of the general committee in Asheville, N. C., on Tuesday last.

This conference is the most important of all Southern Methodist meetings, as it is the general legislative body of the church and elects bishops to fill such vacancies as may exist.

The meeting in Birmingham, it is expected, will be attended by upwards of 2,000 ministers and laymen and will be in session several weeks. The sessions will be held in the First Methodist church, which is the largest and handsomest Methodist house of worship in the south.

Theatrical Notes

THE KENTUCKY

Wednesday Night, "The Girl and the Bandit."
Thursday Night, "Louis James in 'Virginia'."
Friday Night, "Charles R. Taggart, 'The Man From Vermont'."
Saturday Matinee and Night, "Parsifal."

A member of "The Girl and the Bandit" chorus is Miss Bassett of Central City, Ky., who promises in time to become a prima donna.

Owensboro was pleased with The Girl and the Bandit. The Messenger of yesterday said:

"Owensboro has at last seen and heard 'The Girl and the Bandit,' Frank L. Perley's comedy opera. The theatergoers of this city are not at all sorry from 'seeing' pretty Viola Gillette and hearing the tuneful songs in the performance. The show last evening at the Grand was attended by one of the largest audiences of the season. The performance was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who attended. The saying that 'Hite's a Hit' was true in Owensboro as well as in scores of other cities that this dainty comedienne has appeared. Mabel Hite is a second edition of Eva Tanguay—and some of her lines surpass the nervous Hite actress who appeared here last season. 'The Girl and the Bandit' has no 'Song of the Violets' or 'Heldberg,' but there are about a score of songs, all of which are quite pretty and catchy."

The famous Wagnerian Festival play, which will be seen at The Kentucky on Saturday, matinee and night, is a mystic drama based upon one of the popular legends of the Middle Ages, and wrought into most attractive literary form by such medieval writers as Chretien de Troyes and Wolfram von Eschenbach.

This production of "Parsifal" is marked by the employment of many of the balreth customs. The commencing time, however, has been modified. It has formerly been the rule to begin the evening performance at 8:30, given an intermission of two hours for dinner. This intermission is now eliminated, and the performance will begin at 7:45 sharp, at night and 1:45 at matinee. There will be but a five to eight minute wait between each act, which is required to set the stupendous scenic display. The performance ends at 11 p. m.

At a time when everything in the drama is held in such small concern, it is refreshing to welcome the revival of "Parsifal," by that actor of the theatre, variety and "worth" Louis James, who will be seen at The Kentucky tomorrow night. Mr. James' "Parsifal" is said to be his most successful characterization, a statement that is most pertinent when remembrance drifts back to his great performance of "Pepi" in "Francisco De Remini with Lawrence Barrett, or his Othello to Edwin Booth's Iago. The supporting company headed by Norman Hackett, is said to be especially competent.

A CONFERENCE

Paducah Veterans Will Probably Send Representatives to the State Reunion.

Capt. Thomas Hendon and Mr. B. H. Scott will hold a conference today to discuss the matter of sending a local delegation to the State Confederate Reunion at Pewee Valley, on October 26.

The question was to have been settled last night at the regular meeting of Camp James Walbert, but Capt. Hendon and others were unable to attend, hence the conference today.

The Kentucky division is composed of seventy-three camps organized into four brigades, as follows: First Brigade—Brig. Gen. James P. Rogers, Cane Ridge, Ky.; Second Brigade—Brig. Gen. J. B. Briggs, of Russellville, Ky.; Third Brigade—Brig. Gen. Baxter Thornton, of Louisville; Fourth Brigade—Brig. Gen. Sinclair, of Georgetown.

At the suggestion of Mr. George Young, the brigades will have sponsors as at the national reunion. A large attendance is expected. Important reports will be read, and the business on hand will be transacted.

It is believed that a delegation will go from Paducah.

A council of the United Commercial Travelers is being organized in Paducah and as soon as enough members are secured there will be a meeting and an election of officers.

Mr. B. C. Loeblein, local agent of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company, is at the head of the move and all names should be forwarded to him. Several have already been secured.

There are already two drummers organizations here now, the T. P. A. and the Paducah Traveling Men's club, the latter being purely local.

MANY "STARS"

Are Now On "Chief" Lloyd's String

—Back From Cincinnati.

"Chief" Harry Lloyd, manager of the Paducah league team, returned with his family yesterday from a visit in Cincinnati, his former home. The "chief" says he was treated royally by his friends and when he visited baseball games was given quite an ovation. He met Eddie Kohl, manager of the Vincennes team, there and they talked over the past season. He said there were plenty of fast players in Cincinnati this year and when he gets ready to start practice next season will have some of the stars of the Queen City city league but he did not sign any men on this trip.

ROAD OVERSEERS

IN GRAVES COUNTY HAVE BEEN NEGLECTING THEIR DUTIES.

They Will Be Indicted at the Instance of the County Judge Hereafter.

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 18.—The failure of road overseers to keep their roads in proper condition will be investigated by the grand jury. In speaking along this line the other day County Judge J. T. Webb said "the law has been changed by the legislature and the grand jury now has jurisdiction to indict all road overseers who fail to keep their roads in first class travelling order, and who neglect to keep ditches on both sides of the roads open and who fail to repair the abutments to their bridges or keep up their culverts or neglect their roads in any other way. The penalty for the violation is not less than $10, or more than $100."

Judge Webb is a great believer in good roads and has exerted his every effort to that end. On the question he further said: "It has been impossible for the county judge and magistrates to get the road overseers to pay any attention at all to the roads. All road overseers, who fail to get their roads in first class condition in every respect between now and the November term of circuit court may depend on being indicted by the next grand jury."

COMPLAINTS CAUSED

BY HABITS OF LIVING—EVERY CITY VISITED BY CHARACTISTIC AFFLICTION, SAYS PAYNE.

Of the thousands of people who have called on Payne and his assistants in this city, it is said that a majority was suffering with stomach troubles in different forms.

Payne explained that in each city visited, some particular ailment is prevalent. In some parts of the country many are afflicted with rheumatism, while in other places, catarrh and liver and kidney disorders cause most of the suffering. But in Paducah it is said that it is stomach trouble that claims many victims. The afflictions that are common to different parts of the country Payne explained, are due to climatic conditions and the people's habits of living.

During Payne's visit in this city there were hundreds of callers who told about what they had suffered because of stomach trouble.

Of the stories told by those who called yesterday the statement made by John Meyer will give an idea of the work that the Payne's remedies are accomplishing: "I have been suffering for some time with stomach trouble, which gradually grew worse. I felt weak and nervous and I had a coated tongue, and I had taste in my mouth most of the time. I frequently woke up in the morning after tossing most of the night feeling more tired than when I went to bed. A few days ago I decided to try the Payne remedies and I bought some of the New Discovery. My improvement began almost with the first dose and now I feel better than I have for years."

Another interesting story was told by Henry Korb, who said: "For a number of years I had been troubled with rheumatism and my joints were swollen and painful. I had tried many remedies and received little benefit. Then I bought some of the Payne preparations and almost as soon as I began to use the medicine I was relieved. Within two weeks the swelling was gone and the pain left me and I feel better than I had for a long while."

Payne's Remedies can be obtained at all hours at Smith & Nagel's, 4th and Broadway.

No Celebration This Year.

Sanders was authorized to appoint a committee to draft resolutions on the death of Major T. E. Moss, W. R. Pond and L. P. Raser.

Curler hair—the former style of mattress material—comes to the market in bales of mixed origin; from asses, cows and pigs, mingled with the manes and tails of dead horses. Hair gathers dust, harbours vermin, absorbs moisture, and often contains germs of pestilential diseases (absolute proof of this sent on request); gets lumpy and has to be frequently picked over. Daily Thought.

"It is only a short cut from self-will to self-justification."

NOW FOR THE ELECTION.

The registration is now practically corruption is to be eradicated, the people alone can do it.

"A political party has no right to ask for support because it is that party, but that it stands for right. If a political party can not get votes

on the grounds of patriotism it has no right to ask for votes on the ground of partisanship. Under our form of government political parties are necessary, for it is through them

they can come to agreements on public questions and announce their principles and intentions; but political parties should be the servants of the people, not their masters."

Property owners feel the oppression of high taxes in Paducah as nowhere else in the state. If a building in the city that cost $50,000, and was assessed at the proper value,

yielded an income of $2,000 a year in rentals, about $1,200 or $1,300 of this would have to be paid in city, county and state taxes, leaving the owners only about $600 a year on the investment, out of which would have to be paid the cost of repairs,

insurance and other necessary expenses. We can't expect to build up a city with handsome, substantial buildings, when such a state of af-airs exists. It forces property owners to dodge taxes, grossly under-assess property and thus increase the burden on others, or lose money.

And why?

Because thousands of dollars are ruthlessly and wantonly squandered

every year by the city and county

There are scores of ways in which to reduce expenses without the people's being subjected to hardships, or deprived of any of the benefits they now get for the money they are compelled to pay in taxes. The trouble is the city administration does not desire to stop the extravagance, because a few are getting the benefit of it, and they will continue to get the benefit of it as long as the clique remains in power.

The voters should think about these things, for they mean much to them and their families. The city is in the hands of a few selfish men, and the only way to extricate it is

by voting these men out of office.

It will soon be time for the voters to decide.

It has been suggested, as the city

does not desire to purchase the school building at Fifth and Kentuckey avenue for a city hall, that the county sell the court house for a school and buy the school property for a court house. It will be but a few years until the county has to build a new court house, and already more schools are needed. The school site is ample for a court house, as it is larger than the government building and property and no yard is needed for a court house, while one is for a school. The proposition has its advantages and disadvantages and will therefore be as well as oppose it. The county would be able to realize perhaps several thousand dollars on the deal,

and bonds would have to be issued by the board of education to pay the difference in price and for the new school. The tendency of modern times is to build court houses without yards, and to build schools with

as large yards as possible to get it.

It is at least a proposition to think about.

Mayor Dunne and his traction fa-ladies have received another jolt at Chicago. The United States court has set forward the ninety-nine year franchise cases to January 2, which is a set back for the mayor. A Chicago dispatch this tells why: "The city

ed the quo warranto through the illinois supreme court before the hearing at Washington."

It might be a good thing if France

or some other country were to give Venezuela a good spanking. It would teach the fussy little republic a lesson and possibly save Uncle Sam a lot of trouble.

Only about 600 difference in the registration now. If there are not over 600 disgruntled, disgruntled, dissatisfied Democrats in Paducah, we have very much missed our guess.

THE STARS BY DAYLIGHT.

Tradition That They May Be Seen

From Bottom of Shaft.

Are the stars visible to ordinary sight in the daytime? There is a widespread tradition that they are; that if an observer places himself at the bottom of any deep shaft—as of a mine, a well or a factory chimney—which may be shut off scattered light and reduce the area of sky illumination acting on the retina, he will be able to discern the brighter stars without difficulty. The tradition is one of a respectable antiquity, for Aristotle refers to persons seeing stars in daylight when looking out from caverns of subterranean reservoirs, and Pliny ascribes to deep wells a similar power of rendering visible the stars, the light of which would otherwise be lost in the overpowering splendor of the solar rays.

The tradition, well founded or not,

has often been adopted for literary effect. It seems almost sacrilegious to hint that no star known to astronomers

could have shone down unceasingly upon poor Stephen Blackpool during his seven days and nights of agony at the bottom of the Old Hell shaft; that at the best he could only have caught a glimpse of it for a few minutes in each twenty-four hours as it passed across the zenith. Dickens, indeed, does not absolutely say that Stephen watched the star by daylight. It is only a natural inference from his description,

but Kipling adopts the tradition in its extreme form when he writes of—

The gorge that shows the stars at noon-

day clear.

But is the tradition true? Of course

every one knows that Venus from time to time may be seen even at high noon,

but then Venus at her brightest is many times over brighter than Sirius.

Then, again, the assistance of a telescope enables the brighter stars to be discerned at midday, but the telescope

not only directs the eye and greatly

DEATH CLAIMS
A NOBLE WOMANMrs. Mary Leigh Died at Noon
From Pneumonia.

Was a Native of Tennessee, But Had Spent Most of Her Life in Paducah.

FUNERAL AT 3 P. M. TOMORROW.

Mrs. Mary Brooks Leigh died at 12:30 today at her home on Broadway, near Seventh, after a short illness from pleurisy that developed into pneumonia on Monday night. The end came peacefully and closed a very beautiful and useful life. She leaves six children, Messrs. Robert and Charles Q. C. Leigh, of Chicago, Mr. Edward O. Leigh, of Frankfort, Ky.; Mr. Clinton B. Leigh, of Salt Lake City, Utah; and Mr. O. P. Leigh and Miss Ora V. Leigh, of this city. All were with her at her death except Clint Leigh, who could not reach the city in time. She also leaves nine grandchildren and several sisters.

Mrs. Leigh was born in Weakley county, Tenn., July 18, 1832, and was married to the Rev. William H. Leigh, a Methodist minister, 57 years, coming to Paducah a bride, where her husband had charge of the old Broadway Methodist church. They subsequently removed to Dresden, Tenn., but returned to Paducah in 1878 and Mrs. Leigh made this her home after her husband's death, her sons being identified with much of the business and progress of Paducah.

Mrs. Leigh was a woman beloved by all who knew her. Gentle, quiet and refined, a gentlewoman of the old school, her whole life was a beautiful lesson in Christian faith and unselfishness. Her vivid interest in life and a strong sense of humor made her always a lovable and interesting companion. Especially was she in touch with young life, and was sought and loved by them. A devoted mother her children's interests and pleasures were hers, and she made their home a center of life. Abounding hospitality was one of her greatest characteristics. She left a large circle of friends throughout Kentucky and Tennessee to mourn her loss, for wherever she touched in her useful life she made strong friends.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Broadway Methodist church, burial at Oak Grove.

Taylor Fisher Estimates That Fully $300 Worth of Snokers Were Stolen From Him.

OTHER POLICE COURT NEWS

The star defendants in police court this morning were John, (Brownie) Hale and Bigger Hale, uncle and nephew respectively, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, and from indications the prisoners are up against it pretty strong.

The case against the two was worked up by Officers Aaron Hickey and Henry Singery. Several days ago they learned that a negro had bought several boxes of cigars cheap, and began investigating with the result that several warrants will be issued against both defendants today.

Dennis Loving, Willis Martin, John Morton, Tom Emery, John Moore, colored, and F. M. Matlock, white, are all alleged to have bought cigars from both the boys from a little as 50 cents a box, to $2.50. Taylor Fisher, who runs a cigar store, has been missing cigars for some time and estimates his loss at $300. He suspected the two boys, who are employed in his store as bootblacks, but did nothing until apprised of their action in selling cigars.

The case this morning was continued until tomorrow in order that a more thorough investigation might be made. Since court adjourned this morning a majority of the above mentioned persons who say they bought cigars, appeared and made affidavits, and for each person a separate warrant for obtaining money by false pretenses is being issued.

Already there is one case against Bigger Hale and four against "Brownie" Hale. It is said that the latter would take the cigars, put them in a basket and send them out by the nephew to be sold.

The elder Hale has been before the court several times, but this is the first time he has been arraigned for a felony of this nature.

Other cases were: Frank Potts, white, drunkenness, $1 and costs; John Mix, white, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; Ed Morgan, white, breach of the peace, dismissed; Beniah Johnson, colored, breach of the peace, continued.

The case of Peacock against the Seacoast Mineral Co. was dismissed. Mary E. Allison, executrix of H. C. Allison, was given a judgment for $28 against Robert Hughes.

Essay on Dentists,
By Little Bobbie

DENTISTS are men that put you in a chair and make you squeal if you ain't pretty gah. I am gahin because I never squealed once when the dentist was poking a iron in my jaw but I wanted to squeal tho. when you go to a dentist he will say Well, what can I do for you and you say My tooth is aking and he will say That is too bad, git in this chair and we will see what we can do, then he takes a iron that is awful sharp and he puts it on the edge of the hole in yure tooth and it slips off sometimes and goes away into yure jaw and he says Oh I bug yure pardon, my nerves are bad this morning, then he looks around in yure mouth & says Dear me, there is quite a lot of work needs to be done on yure teeth, see here is a cavity and here is another and here is five more, then he says I will go ahead & fix yure teeth up and make it reasonable, & he does it and then when he sends you the bill you faint nearly.

Dentists make false teeth, too my Ma has false teeth & they are always nise and white, Pa says they ought to be when they cost him a month's salary nearly.

but I think dentists are much more on the square than doctors.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Why She Asked.

The woman with the thin lips, the keen eyes and the sharp nose approached the druggist confidentially and whispered:

"Do you sell hair dye, Mr. Druggist?" "Yes, ma'am," answered the druggist in a tone which was meant to assure the caller that wild horses would not tear the secret from his bosom if she wanted to invest in peroxide of hydrogen.

"Well, tell me," she said, her eyes snapping, "don't you sell it to that fat old frizzly haired young thing that has moved into the new house three doors above us and who makes eyes at my husband every evening when he comes home from the office? I told him last night he needn't take such an interest in her, because if she didn't dye her hair she was a wiz."

But the diplomatic druggist excused himself to answer an imaginary telephone call.—Chicago Tribune.

He Escaped.

Wife (angrily)—I expected you two hours ago. Where have you been, pray?

Husband—At the club. Somehow I got into a dispute with Jinks, and—

Wife (disparagingly)—Well? Husband—Oh, I did him up, all right. He contended there wasn't a woman with a decent temper in all the world, and I said I knew one with the temper of an angel. Is it necessary to add, dear, I meant you?—Hudsonville Life.

That's Different.

"Hello, old chap! I hear you've lost your job."

"Well, I wouldn't put it like that exactly, but the firm has been foolish enough to sever its connection with me."

The Monkey's Side.

Greene—Do you believe in the theory that mankind came from the simian race?

Gray—Well, I don't know. There are men who look like monkeys and monkeys who look like men, but I never heard anything derogatory to the character of a monkey. To be sure, they are given to thievery, but, then, so are most animals.—Hudson Transcript.

Strenuous.

"Yes, Gladys, he is rich, but the mere fact of his being rich does not mean anything. Why doesn't he do something? This is a world of endeavor."

"Why, papa, he is an artist."

"But, I've never seen anything of his work."

"You ought to see the meerschaum pipe he colored."—Houston Post.

Advice.

"You have made me so happy," said the young man when the girl's father had given his consent, "that I feel as if I could walk on air."

"That's good. But don't go and forget now that you'll not be able to live on that sort of thing."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Raffles, The Amateur Cracksman

NO SINECURE

No. 7 of the Series

Dr. Theobald then led the way, his professional dignity so thoroughly intact that I could not but smile as I followed his swinging coat tails to the bedroom. I carried a smile across the threshold of a darkened chamber which reeked of drugs and twinkled with medicine bottles and in the middle of which a faint figure lay abed in the half light.

"Take him to the window, take him to the window," a thin voice snapped. "and let's have a look at him. Open the blind a bit. Not as much as that, dash you, not as much as that!"

"The doctor took the oath as though it had been a fee. I no longer pitied him. It was now very clear to me that he had one patient who was a little better in himself. I determined there and then that he should prove a little profession to me if we could not keep him alive between us. Mr. Matruh, however, had the wildest fear that I have ever seen, and his teeth gleamed out through the dusk as though the withered lips no longer met about them, nor did they except in speech, and anything ghastlier than the perpetual grin of his repose I defy you to imagine. It was with this grin that he lay regarding me while the doctor held the blind.

"So you think you could look after me, do you?"

"I'm certain I could, sir."

"Fiddle-faddle, mind! I don't keep another man. You would have to cook your own grub and wash dishes. Do you think you could do all that?"

"Yes, sir, I think so."

"Why do you? Have you any experience of the kind?"

"No, sir, none."

"Then why do you pretend you have?"

"I only meant that I would do my best."

"Only meant, only meant! Have you done your best at everything else?"

"I hang my head. This was a face."

"And there was something in my hand, which I think the insipid light down my throat."

"No, sir, I have not," I told him plainly.

"He, he, he!" the old wretch uttered. "And you do well to own it; you do well, sir, very well indeed. If you hadn't owned up you would have gone out neck and crop! You've saved your bacon. You may do more. So you are a public school boy, and a very good school boy, is that correct?"

"Absolutely."

"What did you do when you left school?"

"I came in for money."

"And then?"

"I spent my money."

"And since then?"

"I stood like a mule."

"And since then, I say?"

"A relative of mine will tell you if you ask him. He is an eminent man and he has promised to speak for me."

"But you shall, sir, but you shall do your best to make a job of it."

"Do you suppose that I suppose a job like this?"

"I suppose it. What I want is a gentleman of nerve, and I don't much care what sort, but you've got to tell me what did happen if you don't tell anything else. Dr. Theobald, sir, you can go to the devil if you won't take a hint. This man may do or he may not. You have no more to say to it till I send him down to tell you one thing or the other. Clear out, sir, clear out, and if you think you've anything to complain of you stick it down in the bill!"

In the mild excitement of our interview the thin voice had gathered strength, and the last shrill insult was screamed after the devoted medicus as he retired in such order that I felt certain he was going to take this trying patient at his word. The bedroom door closed, then the outer one, and the doctor's heels went drumming down the common stair. I was alone in the flat with this highly singular and rather terrible old man.

"And a dashed good riddance!" croaked the invalid, raising himself on one elbow without delay. "I may not have much body left to boast about, but at least I've got a lost old soul to call my own. That's why I want a gentleman of nerve about me. I've been too dependent on that chap. He won't even let me smoke, and he's been in the flat all day to see I didn't. You'll find the cigarettes behind the Madonna of the Child."

It was a steel engraving of the great Raphael, and the frame was tilted from the wall. At a touch a packet of cigarettes tumbled down from behind.

"Thanks. And now a light."

I struck the match and held it, while the invalid inhaled with normal lips, and suddenly I sighed. I was irresistibly reminded of my poor, dear old Raffles. A smoke ring worthy of the great A. J. was floating upward from the sick man's lips.

"And now take one yourself. I have smoked more poisonous cigarettes, but even these are not Sullivan's!"

I cannot repeat what I said. I have no idea what I did. I only knew I only knew that it was A. J. Raffles in the flesh!

AT A TOUCH A PACKAGE OF CIGARETTES TUMBLED DOWN FROM BEHIND.

"Yes, Bunty, it was the very devil of a swim, but I defy you to stick it in the Mediterranean. That sunset gave me the sea was on fire. I hardly swim under water at all, but went all I knew for the sun itself. When it set I must have been a mile away; but I did it was the liveliest man. I ligored on that, and only hapless wasn't set down as a case of suicide. I shall get out quite soon enough, Bunty, and I'd rather be dropped by the hang than than throw my own wicked away."

"Oh, my dear old chap, to think of having you by the hand again! I feel as though we were both abroad that German liner and all that happened since a nightmare. I thought that time was the last!"

"I looked last like I, Bunty. I was taking all the risks and hitting at everything. But the game came out, and some day I'll tell you how."

"Oh, I'm in a hurry to hear. It's enough for me to see you lying there. I don't want to know how you came there, or why, though I fear you must be pretty bad. I must have a good look at you before I let you speak another word!"

I raised one of the blinds. I sat upon the bed and I had that look. It left me all made to conjecture his true state of health, but quite certain in my own mind that my dear Raffles was not and never would be the man that he had been. He had aged twenty years; he looked fifty at the very least. His hair was white; there was no trick about that, and his face was another white. The lines about the corners of the eyes and mouth were both young and deep. On the other hand, the eyes themselves were bright and alert as ever; they were still keen and every and I pleaded, like the old man, with a cigarette to cheer it. It was only the physical strength which appeared to have departed, but that was quite sufficient to make my heart bleed for the dear reason who had cost me every bit I valued by the life between us two.

"Think I look much older?" he asked at length.

"A bit," I admitted, "but it is chiefly your hair."

"Whereby hangs a tale for when we've talked ourselves out, though I have often thought it was that long swim that started it. Still, the island of Elba is a rummy show. I can assure you, and Naples is a rummer."

"You went there after all?"

"Rather! It's the European paradise for such as our noble selves. But there's no place that's a patch on little London as a man-of-war's berth."

"You never met me out for a fellow here. If it does it's his own fault. It's the kind of wicked you don't get out unless you get yourself out. As here I am again and here before the last six weeks, and I mean to have no other knock."

"But surely, old fellow, you're not awfully fit, are you?"

"Fit? My dear Bunty, I'm dead—I'm at the bottom of the sea—and you forget it for a minute."

"But are you all right or are you not?"

"No, I'm half poisoned by Theobald's prescriptions and putrid cigarettes and as weak as a cat from lying in bed."

"Then why on earth he in bed, Raffles?"

"Because it's better than lying in jail, as I'm afraid you know, my poor, dear fellow. I tell you I am dead, and say one terror is of coming to life again by accident. Can't you see? I shan't dare not show my nose out of doors by day. You have no idea of the number of perfectly innocent things a dead man dares not do. I can't even smoke Sullivan's, because no one man was ever so partial to them as I was in my lifetime, and you never know when you may start a row."

"What brought you to these man-sins?"

"I fancied a flat, and a man reason pended those on the boat. Such a good chap, Bunty! He was my reference when it came to signing the lease. You see, I landed on a stretcher most pathetic case; old Australian without a friend in old country; ordered Buns (this was last chance; no go; not an earthly; sentimental with the Mr. Matruh. If it doesn't hit you, I'm lost, Bunty, you're the best. But it hit Theobald hardest of all. He said he came to him. I believe he's going to marry on me."

Save His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Whingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors and they told me one of my lungs was badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty-cent bottles cured me sound and well."

It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Sold by Alvey & List.

The nice increase in our business since the first of the year is very encouraging to us.

MUCH INTEREST

SHOWN IN THE HUMANE SOCIETY MEETING LAST NIGHT.

A Committee to Be Appointed by Mayor Yeiser to Draft Constitution.

A meeting was held at the Broadway Methodist church last night to consider the organization of a humane society, and much interest was shown. Mayor Yeiser was asked to preside after, Rev. T. J. Newell had called the meeting to order, and the mayor upon assuming the chair, stated that there was ample law for the prevention of cruelty to animals, but it needed a healthy public sentiment for the enforcement and the proper spirit among those who have knowledge of violations of it.

Among those who commended the idea of such an organization were Revs. Newell, Cheek, Chiles, Mrs. Annie Friant, representing the W. C. T. U., Prof. Payne, Mr. Heasoa and others.

It was ordered that Mayor Yeiser appoint a committee to draft rules and bylaws and a constitution, and the mayor stated he would do so as soon as possible. The meeting adjourned subject to the mayor's call.

DEADLY POISON

Often Lacks in Bite of a Pretty Girl.

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 17.—Prof. W. D. Miller, of the University of Berlin, sent shivers down the backs of some of the students at Wesleyan when he announced in a lecture that the bite of a pretty girl would often bring a quicker and more horrible death than the bite of a serpent.

Prof. Miller, who has made a special study of the bacteria of the mouth, said that only a short time ago he experimented on a beautiful girl in Germany and found that an arrow dipped in saliva from her mouth would send its victim in a few hours more terrible than one dipped in the venom of the most deadly snake.

Prof. Miller then said that there was a lesson in this for dentists when putting their fingers in the mouths of pretty girls that they do not scratch or wound their fingers on jagged teeth, for in most cases it means a horrible death. Neither should mothers and fathers allow babies to chew their fingers, for fatal results are likely to come from it.

The professor was of the opinion that if this fact became known the female sex could go about unmolested at all times, provided they were not toothless.

The Best Doctor.

Rev. B. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Tex., writes, July 19, 1902: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Horehound Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years."

sore and itched badly. I tried a great many ointments and salves of vari-

MOTOR TRIFTS.

Two Wheels Stolen Last Night—One Recovered.

It seems that bicycle thieves are operating again in Paducah, as two wheels were stolen from in front of the Brunswick pool parlor last night.
One belonged to Tom Davis and the other to Frank Isenman. The latter's wheel was found last night on Jones street in a hollow, where it had been left with a girl's wheel. Two boys found the wheels and took them to the house of Police Chief James Collins who brought them to the hall.
The Isenman boy's wheel has not yet been recovered. The owner of the girl's wheel has not turned up and his machine is being held awaiting a claimant.

It is thought by the police that mischievous boys took the wheels to enjoy a ride and when through, left the machines where they would be found.

SMASHED WINDOW.

But the Thief Took Nothing Except a Cheap Gun.

The window of the Charles Michael clothing and notion store on the east side of Market street was smashed this morning about 3 o'clock and one cheap shotgun stolen.

Officers Cross and Terrell, of the Broadway beat, were patrolling the beat and noticed the glass broken.
They reported the matter immediately and an investigation disclosed the fact that nothing was taken but the gun. Apparently no attempt was made to enter the store or to secure anything but the gun.
The detectives are working on the case.

The Pittsburgh Post says: "On account of low water many of the river steamers are being put out of commission. The acid in the water is corroding the boilers, and in order to patch up the leaks the boats have to lie up for several days. Nearly all the pushboats have required repairs within the past two months."

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

Large Crowd Attended the Religious Revivals Here.

The Protestant meeting at the Third street Methodist church is attended with much interest. A large congregation was out to hear Rev.
P. H. Fields last evening, and his sermon was very impressive. Owing to the weather the services are being held at the church and not in the tent erected for the purpose. Rev. J.
H. Roberts will preach tomorrow evening, and will hold the fourth quarterly conference of the church.

R. V. T. Richey had a large congregation last evening at the First Baptist church and much interest being manifested in the revival. Services are held each afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at 7:15 at night.

"Preventive and Rescue Work" is the topic discussed at the prayer meeting this afternoon under the auspices of the Home Mission society
at the Broadway Methodist church.
These services are held each afternoon at 3 o'clock and are well attended.

CLOSE CALL.

Miss Anna May Yeiser's Horse Shies
and She Had to Jump.

Miss Anna May Yeiser, daughter of Mayor D. A. Yeiser, narrowly escaped being seriously injured while riding in to town from the park last evening.

She was riding a gentle horse which had heretofore become frightened at nothing, but when a long trolley car passed, the animal suddenly shied, plunged forward, reared up and came to the ground with a crash.

With great presence of mind Miss shaken up and the affair created a

PATROL WAGON

Will Not Be Used at Present On Account of the Street.

The city patrol wagon has been completed and is ready for service again, but on account of the torn up condition of Kentucky avenue, will not be used until the street is ready for service.

Several weeks ago the legislative board ordered the patrol wagon overhauled and repainted and it has been in the shop since. In its stead has been used a heavy spring wagon and as it would be damaging to the patrol wagon to be driven out into the torn-up street, it will not be placed in service again before the street is in good condition. Patrol Driver John Austin will continue to use his spring wagon.

ing and graveling Sowell street. This
